

APR 9 1965

ISTITUTO DI GENETICA
UNIVERSITÀ DI PAVIA

VIA SANT' EPIFANIO, 14

PAVIA

Professor Joshua Lederberg
Department of Medical Genetics
Stanford University Medical Center
Palo Alto, California
U.S.A.

April 5, 1965

Dear Joshua:

I am writing to know if you can help me with some medical information. A relative of Alba, a man in his 50's is affected by coronary thrombosis which resulted about 2 weeks ago in hemiplegia and aphasia. At the moment speech is back and some movement of the leg gives hope of at least partial recovery. I am writing to inquire if you or any of your colleagues know of some centers specializing in therapy, possibly on the East coast. This relative has rather heavy responsibilities and is prepared to meet considerable expense in order to have a really satisfactory treatment. Are there any new methods of therapy or rehabilitation? I am sorry to bother you with this but perhaps you could find out about this by calling one of your colleagues on the phone.

I am hoping to learn if visiting you between September 3 and 6 would be all right.

All the best.

Yours sincerely,

Luca

L. Cavalli-Sforza

LCS/aam